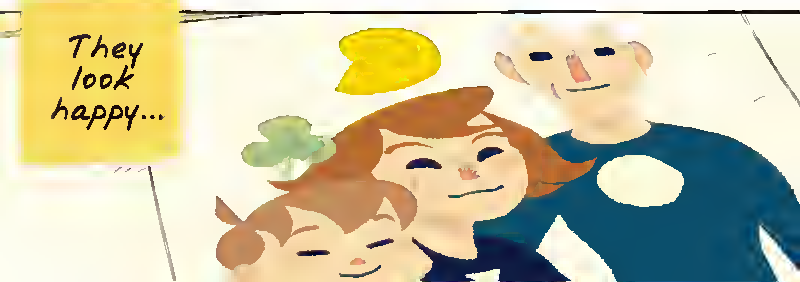
That toddler...

I guess Oliver had a little brother.



They look happy...

I wonder what the symbols above their heads mean?
GURGLE

Woah--

My stomach's growling.
I never did get a chance to eat lunch, did I?
Maybe I should head back to school...

Oh!
There's another mural over there!

This one makes me feel anxious for some reason.
I don't like how that gold compass drifts alone in the emptiness of space...
Or is that a pocket watch?
I can't tell...

I guess when Oliver said he was working on an art project out here he didn't mean just one mural.
I wonder how many he's done?

I'm going to have to explore this whole place to make sure I don't miss any...

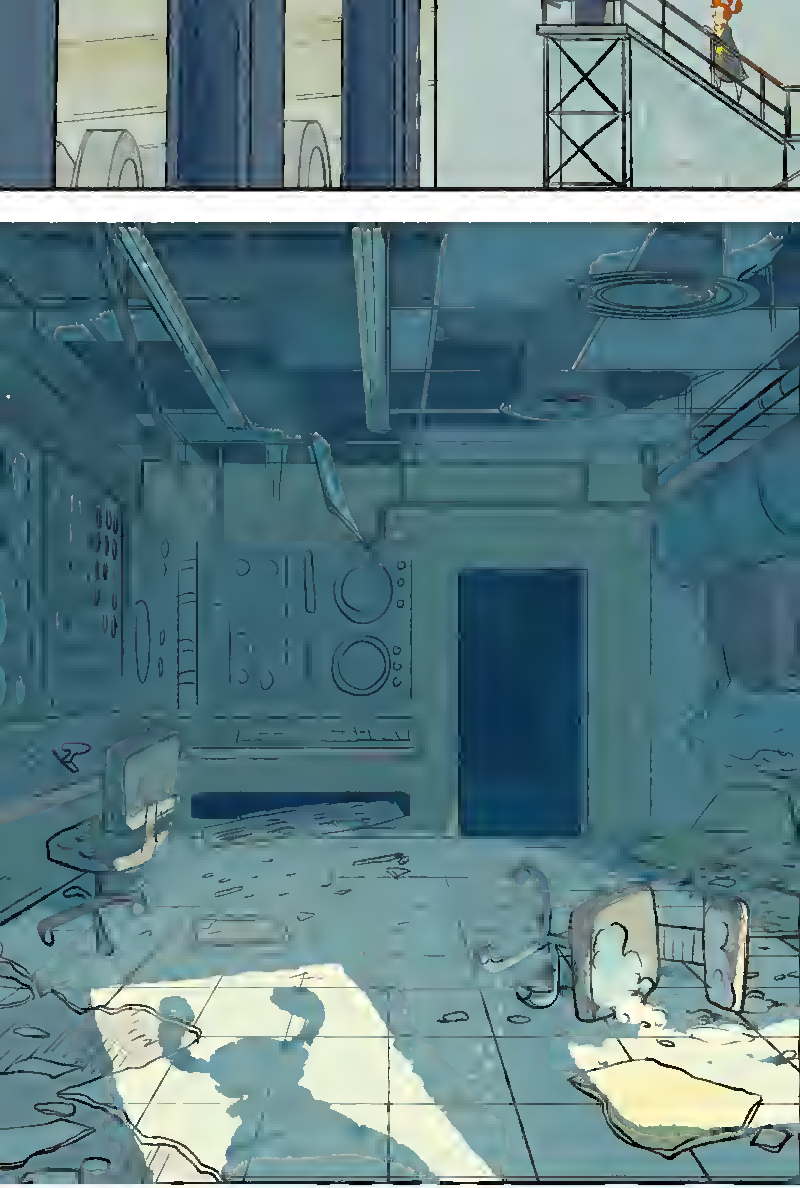
OFF

NO



Ugh--
Smells like mold in here.

Oh, I see...
So this place used to be a water treatment facility.
That explains the--

WOFF!

KOFF KOFF!

The mold is burning my lungs...
Got to keep moving.

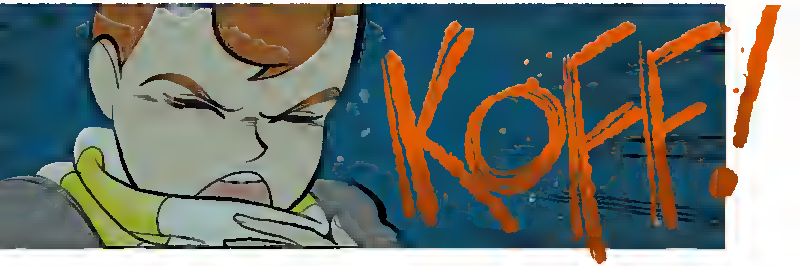
Hey!
Another mural!

A space ship...
I knew it.
Oliver has been off-world.
I've always wondered how he can paint

the cold stillness stars have in the vacuum of space...

It's because he's been to space!



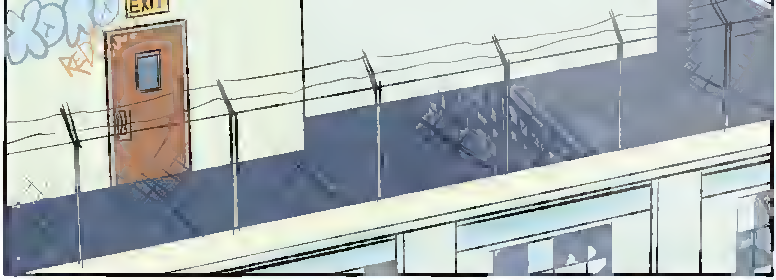
KOFF KOFF

Oh my sosh--

The mold is killing me!

I need to get out of here.

How did Oliver paint in here without suffocating?



EXIT

BAM!

That eye...
I feel like I've seen it before...

"I wanna share one of my work, showing lonely Amy standing on earth, which means (in my perspective), Despite of her loneliness in the great giant galaxy, her cheerful, passionate, warm, and influental character, just make her a much bigger person to me."

"I know that this is not a romance webtoon but I just can't help it. I wish Oliver would got to the dance and snatch Amy away. I do like Zeph but Oliver comes first!"

See you next week, Space Cadets!
